ABOUT THE KITCHEN

When the owners of this Collier Hills cottage purchased their home several years ago, they knew that they would eventually want to update their property as many of their neighbors had done previously. When the time came, they did their homework and, after interviewing several companies, chose the team at Distinctive Remodeling Solutions to bring life to their vision.

Mark Buelow, President of Distinctive Remodeling Solutions, worked closely with the homeowners to determine their needs for function as well as their desire that any changes blend with the original look and feel of the home. The resulting transformation is a seamless blending of old and new.

The kitchen had been cramped with limited workspace. Distinctive opened the space by adding on to the back of the home and using an oversized attic space (more than doubling the home's overall square footage). The new kitchen boasts granite counters, an entertainment peninsula, and an island with cook top. All of the cabinetry was designed to mimic the original woodwork of the home. The newly built-in hutch with glass doors and lighted shelving provides a stunning display for china and crystal.

Additionally, the homeowners can now entertain in the great room that opens off the kitchen. From there, French doors usher guests to a private courtyard nestled behind picket fencing and the canopy of old oaks. The great room's wet bar, echoing the kitchen cabinetry, aids in the flow by providing refreshments from its wine cooler and ice maker.

The care and craftsmanship that Distinctive Remodeling Solutions dedicated to this project are evident in the perfect melding of modern features and amenities with the original character and ambiance of the home, preserving its timeless charms.
